ABOUT ME

I'm pursuing a degree in Strategic Communication with an emphasis on Advertising and a minor in Media Studies at the University of Colorado Boulder. I have a strong interest in marketing and brand development and look forward to applying my education and professional experience to develop creative solutions. My skills include conducting market research, creating content across various platforms, and collaborating with teams to achieve marketing objectives. Beyond using my expertise in a professional setting, I hope to gain experience across diverse industries to build practical skills that extend beyond my academics experience.
